A MESSAGE FROM INTERIM RABBI, RAV BARRY LEFF

This is my last HaKol article. I finish my tenure as your interim senior rabbi at the end of June. It feels like the time has flown by.

This has been, without question, the most unusual year of my rabbinate. It's almost surreal to have gone from a standing room only crowd of 1,000 people in our sanctuary on Yom Kippur to being in that same large, now empty, sanctuary, with just me and Cantor Kurland leading services for a congregation joining us from home.

Certainly, none of us anticipated the challenges we were going to face at the end of the year as we began our year together.

I have enjoyed serving as your rabbi for this last year. Herzl-Ner Tamid is a great community that exemplifies many of our most sacred Jewish values. Over the past few weeks I've had the opportunity to co-teach a Hartman Institute course with Rabbi Rosenbaum. The course is called "Together and Apart: The Future of Jewish Peoplehood." One of the central issues in the course has been the tension between the Jewish tradition's universalistic values on the one hand (we're all created in the image God, love the stranger, etc...), and our particularistic values (the chosen people, all Israel is responsible for one another, etc...) on the other hand. One of HNT's strengths is the way that it navigates that tension, putting our universalistic values into practice with our strong social justice programs, and nurturing the particularistic with traditional services, vibrant Jewish learning for all ages, and a focus on building community.

Synagogues by definition are very "people-centered" places, and in normal times staff and clergy spend a lot of time with people in person, whether it's in services, classes, visiting the sick in hospitals, officiating at lifecycle events, volunteering in the community, or having meetings to plan or manage various synagogue functions. The staff has done an incredible job of moving from a very

in-person and hands-on environment to a virtual environment. Within a week of the announcement of the coronavirus restrictions, we had "gone virtual" with services, religious school classes, and other programming and meetings moved online. Nadine and her staff, Cantor Kurland, and Dr. Eliyahu all moved quickly to adapt to the new reality without any loss of momentum. I've also very much appreciated the support of the lay leadership, especially Zane Brown, who provided vision and strategic guidance while allowing the staff to run with the day to day issues. Tara Reck, Ilyse Wagner, and the rest of the Ritual Committee were also great to work with as we clarified some policies and adapted to our new coronavirus reality while staying faithful to our commitment to halacha.

I know this has been an especially difficult time for many of you. Some of you have had loved ones fall ill, and not been able to be with them physically in their time of need. Some have lost loved ones, and not been able to mourn in the traditional way. B'nai Mitzvah kids have had to either postpone their simcha or have a virtual Bar or Bat Mitzvah, which is not what they were planning. I wish all of you who have faced or are facing those challenges much strength in the days to come.

Herzl-Ner Tamid is coming into an exciting time. I'm sure Rabbi Herber will provide capable leadership for the next stage in HNT's journey. A community campus remains an intriguing possibility. I wish all of you much success and joy as you go from strength to strength. As for me, my plan for the next year is to divide my time between my two homes, New Mexico and Jerusalem. If you'd like to stay in touch with me, feel free to connect with me on Facebook, subscribe to my blog (<https://neshamah.net>) or email me at rebbarry@yeladim.org. Look me up if (when) you come to Jerusalem!

B'vracha (with blessings),
Rav Barry

Ben is an extremely sweet and thoughtful young man, he makes friends easily and is very polite to his teachers, family, and peers. For his Bar Mitzvah Project, Ben has been volunteering at the Sammamish Animal Sanctuary, a place where formerly homeless, neglected animals needing a forever home are cared for and loved by many as they live out their lives. His duties included, feeding, cleaning, brushing, assisting the staff with camps and tours of the facility. Ben is extremely excited to share this special day with his family and friends.

Henry Aronchick is the son of Becky & David Aronchick, and the grandson of Craig & Shiela Sternberg and Paul & Michele Meyer. Henry is a 7th grader at Billings Middle School. He had hoped to celebrate his Bar Mitzvah at Camp Ramah in Ojai California this summer, but instead gets to celebrate becoming a Bar Mitzvah with the community at Herzl-Ner Tamid. Henry has many interests including Video Games, Skiing, Soccer, Ultimate Frisbee, Playing the Trumpet and Reading.

SHALOM AND TODAH RABBAH TO RAV BARRY

Rabbi Barry Leff, known to us as Rav Barry, completes his tenure as HNT Interim Senior Rabbi at the end of June. When Rabbi Rosenbaum announced his retirement after 17 years, it was felt that our congregation needed time to assess our direction and find a leadership fit who would best guide us into this next period in our congregational life. And we did take that time; first to be sad that Rabbi Rosenbaum would no longer be our senior rabbi, then to be happy that he would be taking a well-deserved retirement, and to reflect on who we were and want to be as a congregational community.

The able hands of our Senior Rabbi Search Committee, led by Julie Ellenhorn and Michael Tarlowe, were able to enlist so many interests and viewpoints of our congregants which as we know, resulted in the hiring of Rabbi Jacob Herber who will join us on August 1, 2020. Our congregation was able to focus on this future because Rav Barry was holding the reins steady, keeping us focused on our mission and sharing his experience from other interim positions of what it takes to maintain and grow our synagogue in this time of transition.

The transition he could not have planned for was COVID-19, this time when leadership, spiritual expression, grieving, and celebrating would need to be reimaged in unprecedented ways. Fortunately, Rav Barry's background in technology has served us all well as we began to pivot to online functionalities. He has been instrumental in helping us think through the possibilities and the opportunities that this moment presents. Rav Barry's instinctive optimism has infused our discussions, even if his love of marathon running has not caught on with the same enthusiasm!

It's complicated to be an interim rabbi. It takes skill to keep the organization steady without making too many impactful changes that he cannot see through, yet he had to make decisions called for by the unusual circumstances in which we all find ourselves. Rav Barry helped us ease into these changes, researching best practices and halachic decisions of the Conservative movement and indeed, kept us all steady.

We thank Rav Barry for spending this year with us. Thank you for your thoughtful sermons, boozy learning sessions, minyan engagement and for your steady leadership. We wish you and Susy a safe and exciting new beginning in New Mexico.

MESSAGE FROM ILYSE WAGNER
PRESIDENT, HERZL-NER TAMID

I've spent a lot of time at Herzl-Ner Tamid since my family joined over 40 years ago. During the past 25+ years that I've been an adult member, there have been weeks when, between attending services, dropping/picking up my kids from FRS and USY, and committee meetings, I was in the building 5 – 6 times a week. In recent years, that was reduced to 3 – 4 times a week as I now have teenagers who can drive themselves to and from their various activities at HNT. However, in the past few months, I have not walked into HNT even once. I miss stopping by the office to chat with whoever happens to be available; I miss seeing the Cantor lock eyes with someone as they enter and sing "yeah," I miss watching Dr. Eliyahu talk with parents at the bottom of the hill during pick up; I miss seeing the light from the Lott stained glass windows stream into the sanctuary; but most of all, I miss sharing a physical space with all of you.

While we are not all together in the same building, it's been heartwarming to continue to be an active participant "at" HNT in so many other ways. For programs such as religious services and education, we were able to move online rather quickly, allowing us to still have those face to face interactions we so highly crave in this time of isolation.

And we've taken it one step further as so many of us stay on Zoom following services to share in Kiddush and just catch up. And I've experienced this on a larger scale as well. One Saturday evening, early in the quarantine, I created my own progressive Havdallah, joining in with four different congregations in four different time zones. I've also attended book clubs and classes, through several different Jewish organizations, with people from around the world.

There is great opportunity for virtual interaction these days, but many of us are also struggling right now. HNT has stepped up to provide so much for those in need, from shopping and pharmacy delivery, to providing meals through both our local caterers and volunteers, to over 60 volunteers, including myself, who call congregants regularly just to check in (Hi, Joe). HNT has always been more than a building. HNT is a community. It is where we build connections and support one another, in good times and in bad. I am honored to begin my term as president of the board during this time when we are focused on truly helping one another and discovering new ways to connect that will continue into the High Holidays, and beyond.

Ilyse Wagner
HNT President

PERSONAL PERSPECTIVES ON LIFE DURING THE PANDEMIC

A Message from Guest Writer Marilyn Corets

Throughout the Jewish calendar there are significant periods where we count the days between observances, from the 10 Days of Repentance between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur in the fall, to the Counting of the Omer during the seven weeks following the Passover seders in the spring, to the Three Weeks of mourning leading up to Tisha B'Av in the summer. For me, there is another meaningful time period – the days between Yom Hazikaron (Israel's Memorial Day) and Shavuot. In 2011, my mother, Roberta Corets z"l, passed away on May 9 (5 Iyar), which was Yom Hazikaron in Israel, and my shloshim, 30 days of mourning for a parent, ended on Shavuot. Both holidays are full of symbolism, which during difficult times provides guidance and hope.

I will never forget how Rabbi Rosenbaum beautifully eulogized Mom by linking her quiet strength to the respect displayed across Israel as her soul departed this world. On Yom Hazikaron, Israel commemorates all the soldiers and civilians who lost their lives defending the State of Israel. When the siren sounds at 8:00 PM, Israelis stop whatever they are doing, wherever they are, and stand at attention to honor the lives lost. Drivers stop in the middle of the road, get out of their cars and stand in remembrance. Workers stop what they are doing. Families stop eating dinner. Everyone spends a minute in respectful silence. Quiet can be strength, like my beloved mother.

During shloshim, I got reacquainted with Bob Zimmerman z"l, the dedicated leader of HNT's Morning Minyan and one of my former religious school teachers. He was so welcoming, knowledgeable, helpful and kind. I quickly became connected to this community within a community. There was something so special about the culture Bob created in the minyan that after my 30 days of mourning I continued to attend on Sunday mornings with my daughter, in addition to Friday evenings with my family in the sanctuary, for the full 11 months.

I gained such an awareness of all of the programs, services and support that HNT provides, literally 24/7, that when I was asked to join the Board of Directors I felt a debt that I could start to repay with my time. When Bob passed away suddenly in June 2014, I experienced both tremendous loss and a sense of grief that he would never fully know how much he was appreciated. Like we hear from clergy at burial sites – helping to shovel the gravesite is the ultimate mitzvah because it can never be repaid – I felt that what Bob had done for me and every other mourner could never be repaid.

How does all of this relate to sheltering in place and life during a pandemic? Well, as one of the volunteer drivers who delivers meals to members, I had to catch my breath when Rebecca Frankel asked me to deliver a "Motzi To-Go" meal to Becky Zimmerman. You see, when I delivered Becky's holiday meal the day before Israel Independence Day, it was Israel Memorial Day and that evening I lit a yahrzeit candle for my mother. How timely that I had the opportunity to perform a mitzvah for the Zimmerman family on a day when the memory of my mother and Bob's menschlichkeit were front of mind. I was thanked by several people for the service I provided, but it was me who was most grateful for the opportunity to perform a mitzvah.

As I write this article, we are two weeks away from Shavuot, the holiday that marked the end of my shloshim and for which I find strength and comfort in its "circle of life" symbolism. The Torah service includes the reading of the Ten Commandments ("Honor thy Father & Mother"!) and the joyful blessing of the new babies. My personal brand of spirituality includes a belief that if you keep your chin up and eyes open there are signs that guide and sustain you. This belief has been particularly powerful and reassuring during these uncertain times when we can't count down the days as we do between observances. When we help others, we are helping ourselves and thereby making the days count.

To help, send $25 gift cards for Safeway or Fred Meyer to our Leschi parent volunteer contact, Katie Busby at: 330 30th Ave. S, Seattle, WA 98144 - OR - order online at: <https://giftcards.com/safeway-gift-card#!#main> (selecting "Plastic" at the top, rather than an e-gift card) or <https://giftcards.kroger.com/our-store-cards/kroger>. Gift cards ordered online should also be sent to Katie Busby at the address above.

Stay Home. Stay Healthy. Give Blood.

Donating blood is an essential and encouraged activity exempt from stay-at-home orders. Bloodworks NW has transitioned to scheduled appointments only, spreading appointments out, and no guests or people under age 16 are permitted onsite, to ensure safe social distancing and a controlled environment and experience for donors. Make an appointment at: schedule.bloodworksnw.org.

Social Action Updates

Even from home, our generous volunteers and donors are still supporting the organizations that have come to rely on our support. Here are just a few examples of the acts of kindness happening in our community.

Social Action Appeal Allocations & COVID Relief

In April, the Social Action – Social Justice Committee allocated $16,000 of the 2019 Social Action Appeal funds in grants to our partner organizations: Congregations for the Homeless, Leschi Elementary School, Sophia's Way, and Jewish Family Service. With the COVID-19 outbreak creating such a large humanitarian need in the area, funds were made available for emergency relief, as well as for project-based requests.

Leschi Elementary School

Todah rabbah to Linda Krisher, head of our Leschi Elementary tutoring program, who coordinated donors sending grocery gift cards for Leschi families in need. To date, generous donors have sent $500.

Saving Lives at the Annual Blood Drive in March

Today rabba to the stellar folks who rolled up their sleeves at the HNT Annual Blood Drive in March! We broke our own records with 58 registered donors giving 50 units of blood, saving 150 lives! We are so proud that 10 of those were first-time donors, including a 16-year-old, and that our roster of donors included a cancer survivor who is happy to have the chance to give back again. Thank you for hearing the call (while adhering to the state mandated protocols), including those who couldn't be fit into the schedule and instead donated at the Bellevue blood bank.

Today Rabba to Kellie Israel for making these beautiful cards for congregants that live in communal housing.

Teen Feed courtesy of Nathalie Bentov and family.

Teen Feed

Thank you to March and April Teen Feed leaders/volunteers Nathalie Bentov and family and to May Teen Feed leaders/volunteers Brian Lurie and family along with Kellie Israel, who made dinner in their kitchens at home to drop off and feed 80 teens at Teen Feed and ROOTS young adult shelter.

If you'd like to donate to the funds for Teen Feed meals, email Rebecca@h-nt.org.

Congregations for the Homeless

Thanks to our May shelter meal captains, Florence Katz Burstein & Nancy Morse, for teaming up with their friends, each in their own homes, to prepare and deliver meals for 100 homeless men.

Our Social Action Committee remains committed to providing meals to CFH through the course of the pandemic. In April, $2,000 from the 2019 Social Action Appeal was allocated to CFH to cover the cost of two take-out meals per month through June.

A MESSAGE FROM DIRECTOR OF EDUCATION, DR. ELIYAHU KRIGEL, CJE

Proverbs 24:16 teaches, "Seven times the righteous person falls and gets up, while the wicked are tripped by one misfortune." The righteous stand up after falling so many times because they are resilient and persevere. The wicked are tripped by one misfortune because they easily give up when faced with a challenge. All my life I have always been someone who views a glass that has water up to the halfway mark as being half full. Others might view this same glass of water as being half empty. Whether you are an optimist like me, or you tend towards the pessimistic perspective, the coronavirus has changed our world forever. The way we will interact with each other will be different in the future. The reassuring aspect is that we are all in this together. Although many continue to face hardship and challenging times, I would like to offer five optimistic points that have been pleasant surprises to me in this time as our school & community transitioned to a virtual platform:

1. Expanding the Invitation List: B'nai mitzvah families can now extend their invitation list and invite people to their simcha or special day they might not have considered before this pandemic. There is now a lot of flexibility regarding who can attend Zoom life cycle events like bar or bat mitzvah ceremonies or weddings because the invitation list is no longer impacted by catering numbers or party attendees.
2. Spotlighting Special Moments: With spotlighting, special moments can be magnified for all to witness. Grab a front row seat to all the important times and memorable events in the lives of those you care about the most. Gone are the days of not being able to see clearly or hear speeches. The two b'nai mitzvah ceremonies we've celebrated so far as of June 1 have been so touching and beautiful because the spotlight feature on Zoom has allowed us all this window of close observation into the heartfelt life of the family.
3. Schmoozing and Connecting: During the past few months I have connected with more people from my past than I have during the past few years. Life happens and we don't always have an opportunity to connect with our loved ones across the country or globe. The emphasis on the virtual connection has enabled me to regularly connect with my family members and friends who aren't local. FRS attendance has been stellar because we've been able to remain connected virtually since mid-March. After HNT services, friends and families have continued to use the Zoom platform to schmooze & share when so many are physically isolated.
4. Teaching through the Turmoil: The dedication of the FRS teachers and teaching assistants has been so positive. Transitioning to FRS Virtual School was not as simple as just going online. Teachers and teaching assistants planned detailed PowerPoint and Prezi presentations filled with insight, wisdom, and inspiration in order to modify the FRS spiraled curriculum. Using Kahoot and other interactive games has enabled the content we teach to stay relevant and meaningful and that only happened because the dedicated FRS staff continued to place learning first by teaching through the turmoil.

5. Parenting with Positivity: Since we have been unable to meet physically, I have witnessed so many positive parent interactions up close and personal. FRS parents are there for their kids. I have enjoyed working with families on creating a virtual road map that is individualized and specific. The positivity our parents have shown me has been heartwarming and inspiring.

As a learning community we continue to adapt and think of ways to we can still be together and move in a positive direction. By focusing on the righteous person getting up after each obstacle, we can all move through this with grit and vigor. As we transition into the summer months, may we call continue to remain healthy and joyful!

FRS Next Year Beginning on 9/13/2020

Register for FRS with the link below. While our hope is to open back up in the fall and all be together physically in school, we are making alternative arrangements. If needed FRS Virtual School will continue in the fall depending upon the recommendations from the state and the CDC. We have created a supportive online community and learning has been steady and consistent. Please continue to check your email regularly throughout the summer for FRS extra recourses and opportunities to connect. The first 50 families who register for FRS will be entered into a raffle to win a new laptop computer. Register for FRS with this link: <https://campscui.active.com/orgs/HerzlNerTamid>

B'tayavon: My Kitchen to Your Table

Introducing HNT's new pilot program called B'tayavon: My Kitchen to your Table! B'tayavon matches stretched-thin families balancing so many priorities with those among us who can fairly easily stretch their own meal preparation to include a meal for another family. Our hope is that our volunteer chef will contact the interested family to ascertain needs and dietary preferences and provide a meal 2-3 times a month for the family. Please fill out the form below if you are interested in being matched and pass it along to anyone you think might want to be a volunteer chef. Once a match has been made, the volunteer chef will contact the receiving family to work out the details: <https://hnt.wufoo.com/forms/w110wx4j0ui0k5h/>

A MESSAGE FROM DIRECTOR OF EDUCATION, DR. ELIYAHU KRIGEL, CJE

• Becoming a Leader Trip • August 25-27 • Camp Solomon Schechter

Join Dr. Eliyahu Krigel for the sixth annual Becoming a Leader Trip from August 25-27, 2020 at Camp Solomon Schechter. This trip has become an enduring touchstone experience for middle and high school students within our community. The trip is geared toward sixth through eighth grade students from HNT and beyond. The trip focuses on the b'nai mitzvah journey, both before and after, and how it relates to the coming of age experience on a personal level. For students about to become a b'nai mitzvah and for students who have already experienced this meaningful rite of passage, this trip is an opportunity to combine Judaism, ecology, and leadership in the beautiful Pacific Northwest. Alumni of the trip who went on the trip in previous years are encouraged to participate again this year to deepen their understanding and experience of leadership and ecology in a Jewish context. The leadership opportunities for all the students on this trip are tremendous. The trip marks a transition in our student's educational journey! We will go white water rafting the first day together on the trip and then head to CSS to continue our adventure. The program is focused on middle school students but led by high school students. High school students receive 24 volunteer hours for participation in this program. Please contact Dr. Eliyahu Krigel at eliyahu@h-nt.org for more information about this trip. Contact Nadine Strauss for mitigation for need based HNT students. Please go to this link for registration: <http://hnt.wufoo.com/forms/becoming-a-leader-6/>

FRS Risa: Great work to Risa Wagner for becoming the next USY Pinwheel Regional President. Risa also works as a teaching assistant at FRS and has attended numerous becoming a leader and Masa trips. We are so proud Risa for all her accomplishments and can't wait for a great year ahead under her guidance and leadership!

FRS Drive: Thanks to all the FRS parents who came to pick up the FRS student material in April. The FRS community continued to persevere and endure all year long.
