A Message from Rabbi Jacob Herber

Rabbi Jacob Herber

Take a moment and contemplate the following: When you think about mitzvot (commandments) which come immediately to mind? Make a list of them in your head or, better yet, write them down.

When I gave this exercise a try, I came up with a number important and meaningful ones: davening with tallit and tefillin in the morning, studying Torah, lighting Shabbat candles, filling a backpack with school supplies for a needy child, eating matzah on Passover. After I came up with my list, I realized that all of these mitzvot revolved around me. I'm the person doing them. While I might be eating matzah with other people at the Seder table or while I might be physically praying with a minyan I'm the one actually the doer performing the mitzvah. That's true of many commandments.

There is, however, one significant exception to this paradigm, the mitzvah of lighting the candles on Hanukkah, which we will do beginning Thanksgiving Day weekend. Yes, can you believe it, Hanukkah in November!?! When the Talmud (Shabbat 21b) describes the obligation of lighting Hanukkah candles, it uses the following language: "ner ish u-beito," a candle for a person and that person's household.

So, the act of lighting Hanukkah candles falls upon everyone in the household, collectively. From a technical point of view, one could light a single candle in one's house on any given night of Hanukkah and fulfill the mitzvah of lighting for that night for everyone who happens to live in the home.

The primary placement of Hanukkah in the home is reinforced by a subsequent passage in the Talmud (Shabbat 23a). In that text, the Gemara discusses how a traveler, away from home, should do when it comes to lighting candles on Hanukkah. One might think that the lodger should light individual candles in addition to the candles that are lit by the other residents (presuming that they are also Jewish) and homeowners of the dwelling place. However, one sage takes a different approach and opines that the guest must - in some way - join in with the homeowners when they light their candles. Regardless of how it's done, the mitzvah of lighting the Hanukkah candles on that night is to be performed as a single home unit.

Although the concept of ner ish u-beito is one directly connected with Hanukkah, it can easily be applied to other mitzvot that we perform throughout the rest of the year. Go back to that list of mitzvot that you came up with a few minutes ago. I bet each of those mitzvot are best fulfilled with other people, whether they're your friends, family, and/or your community. At the end of the day, one of the most beautiful aspects of mitzvot are the way they can often be performed together, with others. Some of these mitzvot may be done individually in a collective setting, while others, like the mitzvah of lighting the Hanukkah candles, are, at their core, carried out in a mutual manner.

Covid-19, unfortunately, makes collective Hanukkah candle lighting efforts a bit challenging. Whether you light your hanukkiyah on your own, with your family, or with a pod/bubble that includes extended family or friends, I hope your Hanukkah is filled with the beautiful light of your candles!

Message from the President

Many congregants have shared their thoughts about this year's High Holiday services with me, and I'd like to share my own experience. I loved services this year! Many of the things that I was worried about, actually made services a bit better. I didn't get to see all the friends I look forward to seeing each year, but I felt a deeper connection to those who were in person as I recognized that the decision to be on site was a very deliberate one. I didn't get to see the bimah pushed back, something that has always signaled the High Holidays at HNT, but I felt the intimacy of remaining together in the sanctuary. I didn't get to see congregants up on the bimah honored with ark openings and closings, but the lack of movement on the bimah allowed me to focus on services. I am thrilled that we are slowly opening our building more, and I hope we can hold on to the kavod we experienced when our gatherings were still small.

An Update on American Jewish War Heroes Yahrzeit Project

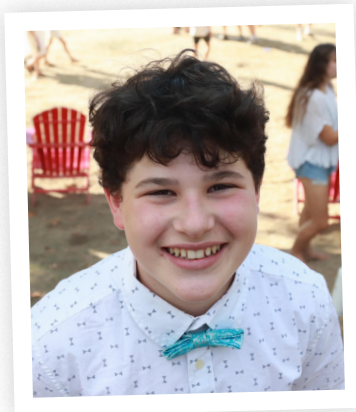

In a beautiful example of “bashert” or fate, Trea Diamant and her children are the new volunteer stewards of the data for the war hero yahrzeits included in the Mourner's Kaddish each Shabbat. At age 90, Ellis Corets, the creator of the American Jewish War Heroes Yahrzeit Project, recognized he was no longer able to annually sort and merge the precious data. Ellis embarked on this sacred mission in his 80s, spending several years manually researching, collecting and entering the data of over 3,600 Jewish service members who never returned home from overseas wars. He could not have dreamed of a more capable partner than Trea. She is computer savvy, a former Captain in the U.S. Marine Corps and a wise parent who recognized a unique family learning opportunity that blends history, patriotism and Jewish values. A match made in heaven. The Corets Family thanks Rebecca Frankel for facilitating the connection between Trea and Ellis, which assured a seamless transition of duties before the start of the Jewish New Year.

Asher Cook • November 13

Asher Cook son of Penny & Tim Cook, brother of Benja & Gavri Cook, grandson of Elaine Millendorf, Anne Cook, and Robert Cook, is a 7th grader at Chinook Middle School. In his spare time Asher plays football and is on the Bellevue Junior Seahawks Varsity Team. He also enjoys cooking and baking, playing video games, and attending Camp Solomon Schechter in the summer. For his Mitzvah project Asher is working with the Boys and Girls Club, collecting new and gently used sports equipment for kids who need access to gear to play.

Rudy Spring • November 13

Rudy Spring is a 7th Grader at Kenmore Middle School. He is the son of Michael & Elisabeth Spring, grandson of Jerry & Maurice Spring & Allan Berman.

We are thrilled that Rudy will be called to the Torah as a Bar Mitzvah on November 13th. Rudy has worked so hard the past 18 months through a pandemic and preparing for his Bar Mitzvah completely virtually.

Rudy can most often be found on a soccer field, baseball field, or basketball court. When he's not playing one of his sports, he has his nose in a book, looking up top ten lists & airplane facts, watching a Marine Biology vlogger, or playing Xbox with his friends. He is an avid Lego builder with his Dad and enjoys talking novels with his Mom. Rudy is constantly on a quest for facts. Rudy looks forward to family vacations and loves to plan out activities and meals with his sister, Mira.

For his Mitzvah Project he enlisted the help of our beloved dentist, Dr. Rama Oskouian. Together they formulated a plan to have a back-to-school supplies drive. Rudy was able to deliver an entire trunkful of supplies to his old elementary school in Kenmore. For the last part of his Mitzvah Project Rudy plans to work with Dr. Rama again on a food drive before the holiday season.

Mazel tov Rudy, we are so proud of you!

Hinanit (Ina) Shapiro & Eliyahu (Elan) Shapiro • November 27

Ina Shapiro is in 7th grade. Her parents are Leslie and Dan Shapiro. Ina loves to play D and D (Dungeon and Dragons) with her friends and family. In fact, she is in three different adventures currently. Ina loves to do math problems, especially ones that involve puzzles. She also enjoys drawing and is an amazing artist. Ina also loves to go boating and excels at rowing. Ina also loves to read and play board games with her family.

Elan Shapiro is in 7th grade. His Parents are Leslie and Dan Shapiro. Elan enjoys playing D and D, better known as Dungeons and Dragons. He is also a fervent reader, in fact, during shut down, he nearly read almost every fantasy book in the library system! Elan is also passionate about video games, as well as board games, which he enjoys playing with his family. Elan also is concerned about the environment, as this was the focus of his mitzvah project.

A Message from Director of Education Dr. Eliyahu Krigel, CJE

A Dvar

“For the dead and the living, we must bear witness.”

—ELIE WIESEL,

ROMANIAN-BORN AMERICAN JEWISH WRITER, PROFESSOR,
POLITICAL ACTIVIST, NOBEL LAUREATE, AND HOLOCAUST SURVIVOR

One significant way FRS students are taking the heartfelt advice of Elie Weisel in the quote above is by engaging in the Daffodil Project this year. The Daffodil Project aspires to build a worldwide Living Holocaust Memorial by planting 1.5 million daffodils in memory of the 1.5 million children who perished in the Holocaust and in support for children suffering in humanitarian crises in the world today. The Daffodil Project has partnered with the Seattle NOW GEN Giving Circle to provide 7 new sites to participate in this project this year and we're pleased to announce HNT is one of the sites. Interested FRS families received a bag of daffodil bulbs to plant at home to serve as a special memorial to the children victims of the Shoah and injustice everywhere. The 5th graders at FRS also have planted a small garden at HNT for this important purpose as well. We teach about the Holocaust in FRS in order to inspire positive change, combat injustice, and memorialize this tragic time in our collective history. The 5th grade at FRS had the wonderful opportunity to virtually visit the Holocaust Center for Humanity last month and learned so much. The thank you video we made for the Holocaust Center can be seen by clicking HERE.

The shape and color of the daffodils represent the Yellow Stars that Jews were forced to wear during the Holocaust. Yellow is the color of remembrance.

Daffodils represent our poignant hope for the future. They are resilient and return with a burst of color each spring. The daffodils honor the memory of those who perished and also serve to honor those who survived. To date, the project has planted 664,000 daffodils in over 266 locations worldwide including synagogues, schools, churches, city parks, college campuses, botanical gardens, and other community locations in Atlanta, Georgia, many states within the US, and internationally in Israel, Poland, The Netherlands, Japan, Canada, The Czech Republic, and Germany. These will be the first plantings in Washington State. So far, the other organizations participating in addition to our community includes the Hillel at the University of Washington, the Holocaust Center for Humanity, and two public schools. Thank you to all those who participated in the planting. May the daffodils remind us to always stand up for injustice and bring healing to all the broken places in the world!

Register for the Frankel Religious School

Beginning October 31, the Frankel Religious School has been meeting person on the weekends at HNT from 9:30-12:15! Click HERE to sign up for FRS! We also realize not everyone is ready for in-person learning as well. If you are in kindergarten through 5th grade and you want to remain virtual on Sundays, please register at the link below. Teachers will have Zoom open in each classroom and students can learn either on Zoom or in-person on Sundays and Saturdays for no additional fee: <https://hnt.wufoo.com/forms/frs-virtual-only-option-20212022/>

After registering for FRS, 3rd – 7th grade students are eligible to participate in the Mishkan program (in person learning midweek in small groups) for an additional fee to replace the virtual midweek option beginning in November. Register for the Mishkan program with this link: <https://hnt.wufoo.com/forms/frs-mishkan-program-20212022/>

The plan moving forward with FRS on Tuesday is to keep it virtual throughout the year. This hybrid approach with instruction via Zoom on Tuesdays was conceived before we decided to pivot to online in response to the Delta wave, and with support from our school committee chairs. We have worked hard to recreate a robust program next year while keeping the FRS tuition the same as last year. We will continue to reevaluate and modify this program. Thank you for your participation! With questions about FRS, please email Dr. Eliyahu Krigel, Director of Education at Herzl-Ner Tamid, at eliyahu@h-nt.org!

Shall I Compare Thee to a Summer's Day?

New Ways of Imagining God, Jewish Practice, and Ourselves
With Rabbi Jay Rosenbaum

Monday Nights, 7:00-8:30pm via Zoom
November 1, 8, 15

This class will attempt to do the following:

- Show that our most central Jewish spiritual Jewish practice are forms of imaginative play,
- Demonstrate that our key Jewish practices reflect the creative tension between our desire for meaning (what I call "purpose") and our desire to break free of established frameworks (what I call "possibility")
- Show that the core Jewish concept of God, God's One-ness reflects the twin human aspirations of purpose and possibility, and that's why it is central to Judaism.

Session One (in October):

The Rhythm of Purpose and Possibility

We discussed how Jewish practice addresses the question: How can we commit and still remain open?

Session Two:

From Possibility to Purpose

Our lives are given greater energy and urgency when we narrow possibility and make a sacred commitment to a purpose. But commitment also generates anxiety. What if we fail? We will explore how Jewish practices help us to imagine moving from multiple possibilities to a unified choice, and thus strengthen our courage to live a life of purpose, meaning and significance.

Session Three:

Bracha: Breaking the Boundaries

Having looked at the side of ourselves that moves from possibility to purpose, we will go in the opposite direction, and explore the part of us that breaks boundaries, explores new horizons and pushes against our limitations. Along the road, we will examine

- the connection between the concept of Bracha and the tapping of hidden human potential
- how Torah study is a hide and seek game we play with God, and why we play it
- the connection between God's mystery and our own

Session Four:

Shall I Compare Thee to a Summer's Day? New Ways of Imagining God and Ourselves

How do we describe the indescribable? We will explore the connection between the difficulty of describing God and the challenge of articulating our own deepest and most moving life experiences. In the process, we will learn what Shakespeare and the Rabbis taught us about God's uncontainability and our own.
