A Message from Rabbi Jacob Herber

This week we will experience the Gregorian New Year, which we euphemistically refer to as the secular new year. If you were to ask most Jews when the “Jewish New Year” is celebrated they would probably respond, “On Rosh Hashanah.” While this is true and a completely appropriate answer, the fact is the Mishnah (the earliest Rabbinic text of law and lore) identifies several Jewish new years. As Mishnah Rosh Hashanah 1:1 states:

“The four days in the year that serve as the New Year, each for a different purpose:

On the first of Nisan, the new year for the kings and for the festivals;

On the first of Elul, the new year for the tithing of animals . . .

On the first of Tishrei, the new year for years, for the Sabbatical years and for the Jubilee years and for the planting and for the vegetables

On the first of Shevat, the new year for the trees – these are the words of the House of Shammai; The House of Hillel says, on the fifteenth thereof.”

For the Jewish People time is not linear – it’s circular. There are multiple beginnings during the course of each year that occur in a system of time that both circles around and at the same time moves forward, like a spiral or a helix. This ingenious conception of time allows for progress and forward motion year to year. This conception of “Jewish time” also gives us the ability to focus on the renewal and re-birth of different aspects of life at different moments within the same year. In this way, Judaism provides us the unique opportunity for spiritual renewal vis-a-vis each of the key aspects of life. It allows us as limited human beings to appropriately focus on one major aspect of life at a time.

The first New Year mentioned in the Mishnah above is mentioned as such in the Torah itself. Biblically, the first month of the year is the month in which Pesah falls. Marking Passover as the first holiday chronologically sets the thematic tone for the other holidays of the year: Passover relates the Exodus, followed by Shavuot, which speaks about receiving the Torah on Mt. Sinai, followed by Sukkot, which commemorates our journey toward the Land of Canaan through the wilderness. This New Year, which starts with Nisan, is a cycle that tells our unique story and lays the foundation for our cultural and spiritual beliefs. Beginning the year with Passover links us to our ancestors and to our essence as Jews.

The next New Year mentioned by our Mishnah is very different – this one begins our “fiscal” year. Like any society, a Jewish one requires taxes, which need to be paid by a certain time. As the Rabbinic aphorism goes, “Im ein kemah, ein Torah - if there is no sustenance (literally flour), there is no Torah.” If one’s basic material needs aren’t met, how can one attain his/her spiritual potential? This cycle indicates the continued importance of making sure the institutions we care about have the resources they need to reach their ultimate potential. Starting the New Year in Elul reminds us of how important it is to allocate one’s personal resources to support our Jewish community.

The third new year mentioned in the Mishnah is the one with which we’re most familiar, Rosh Hashanah. During the month of Tishrei we’re supposed to focus on ourselves – spiritually renewing our commitment to Jewish values and to our relationship with God. Because our Sages associated Rosh Hashanah with the creation of the world, this holiday has a more universal focus, calling us to respond to the universalistic human need to reflect, repent, and renew. Similar in some respects to the secular new year we just celebrated, with its custom of making new year’s resolutions, this cycle can be characterized as having an inside-out focus.

Starting the New Year with Tishrei allows us to begin with the self, and the universal human condition, and emanate outward.

Finally, the fourth New Year enumerated in the Mishnah is Tu Bishvat – the new year of the trees. Coming soon (Feb. 13th), this new year turns our focus on the natural world and the bounty nature offers us. Tu Bishvat reminds us of the connection between nature and religiosity and became particularly popular amongst the Kabbalists. Today, this cycle can serve to remind us of the sacredness of the natural world, the importance of environmentalism, and the blessings we have in the incredible gift of our wondrous ecosystem. In celebration of this holiday there are some who conduct a seder focusing on these themes and our connection to the land of Israel.

May each Jewish New Year bring with it sacred meaning and allow us to spiritually elevate our lives!

–RABBI JACOB HERBER

Message From the President

As we bid farewell to 2024, we step into 2025 with hearts full of hope and excitement for the opportunities and growth that lie ahead. The start of a new year is always a time to reflect, to appreciate what we have accomplished, and to look forward with renewed energy to what we can achieve together as a community.

HNT has accomplished some wonderful things in 2024 such as the hiring of four new talented staff members; we held a wonderful new event, the Holiday Shuk, and our membership numbers are growing. The Barnabie Point Project is progressing very well - be sure to read the update in this HaKol and check out the new page on the HNT website. Our Rabbi Search continues, and we hope to have good news to share in 2025. Your continued support, participation, and dedication make our synagogue a vibrant, welcoming, and spiritually enriching place.

One of the events I am particularly excited about is our upcoming Gadol Gala on March 23, which promises to be a spectacular evening of celebration, connection, and community spirit. This event is more than just a fundraiser—it is an opportunity for us to come together and have a blast, supporting our synagogue's mission and ensuring that we continue to thrive in the years to come. My heartfelt thanks to the Gala Committee, led by Tamar Heyman and Kelly Piha, and all those who are working tirelessly behind the scenes to bring this event to life. Their hard work, creativity, and dedication are deeply appreciated, and I can't wait to experience the festive evening in store for us all.

In addition to the gala, we have an exciting lineup of activities and programs planned throughout the year. From educational classes and social gatherings to community service projects and holiday celebrations, there will be something for everyone to enjoy. I am thrilled that HNT has such a wide variety of opportunities to connect, learn, and grow together as a community.

As we embark on this new year, let us remember that the strength of our synagogue lies in the hearts and minds of each of you. Together, we can make 2025 a year of joy, growth, and meaningful connection.

Our Search for a Senior Rabbi Is Underway!

The HNT Rabbi Search Committee has been very busy this fall. Here is what has been going on behind the scenes:

October and November were dedicated to two primary objectives:

1. Gathering input from the congregation on individual needs/desires for our new rabbi through three listening sessions and a membership-wide survey.
2. Posting our open rabbinical position with the Rabbinical Assembly (RA) by completing a detailed 40-page questionnaire about our congregation and our needs.

We accomplished these two objectives. Thanks to all who participated in a listening session or sent written comments.

We are now receiving applications from rabbinical candidates. Our evaluation process includes the following steps:

1. Resume review
2. Screening video call

3. Committee interview
4. Detailed independent research on the candidate
5. An in-person interview over a weekend in Seattle
6. A board of directors review

While we accept applications from RA applicants, we also remain open to candidates who express interest in our position outside the RA process. If you are aware of rabbinical candidates—no matter how early they are in their careers—please reach out to Robbie or Bonnie at RabbiSearch@h-nt.org to discuss how we can include them in our process.

We are dedicating the time and energy to select a rabbi who we are all excited to welcome, and who can be an integral part of both the HNT and Seattle community for many years to come. With that said, please know that the committee recognizes we may not find the right match in this first search cycle.

We appreciate the opportunity to serve our community with this work and thank you for placing your trust in the committee.

Barnabie Point Construction Timing & Impact

Thanks to everyone who attended the Town Hall Meetings Oct. 22nd and 27th. There were a lot of great questions and concerns raised and hopefully answered. For members who missed the Town Hall sessions, you can access a recording and the slideshow on the new BP section of the HNT website located here. If you have any other questions please contact the project team at barnabielpoint@h-nt.org.

One of the topics that spurred many questions and a lively discussion was about the expected impact of construction on the normal activities at HNT. Below are questions and answers to the most frequently raised concerns on this subject.

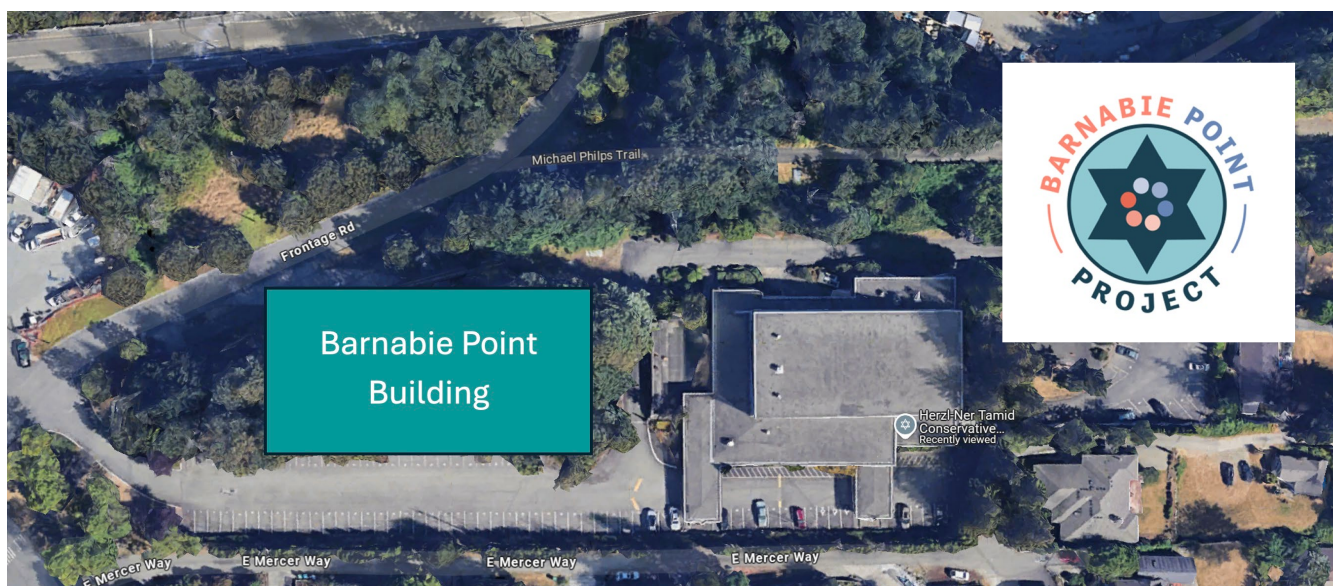

Tell me again, what are the benefits of the Barnabie Point Project to HNT and our members?

The Barnabie Point project will provide our community with a new modern building with multiple state-of-the-art classrooms and a large multipurpose room. The new modern chapel space will be large enough to hold b'nai mitzvah (accommodating approximately 100-150 people) and other religious and programmatic events, plus we will have new classrooms for the Frankel Religious School. By having Jewish organizations, a preschool, elementary, and middle school on the HNT campus, we will help foster a vibrant Jewish community providing greater programming and membership opportunities. Plus, HNT's portion of the operating costs will be paid for by a portion of the rental income from Jewish organizations that will rent space in the new building. The remainder of the rental income will contribute important funds to HNT's regular operating expenses.

Where exactly is Barnabie Point property located?

Barnabie Point is a piece of property wholly owned by HNT and located on the left-hand side of the parking lot as you drive towards the synagogue building. After many years of discussions about partnering with JDS and other Jewish organizations in the greater Seattle area, this property will be the new home of a 35,900 square foot building that will house the Jewish Day School, a new mid-size sanctuary and state-of-the-art facility for HNT's Frankel Religious School and a common place for many Jewish organizations throughout the Seattle area to gather.

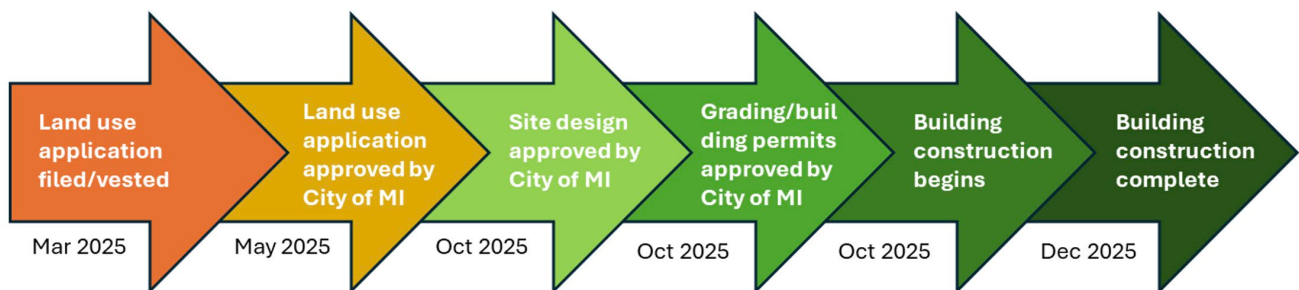

Barnabie Point Construction Timing & Impact

When will construction start?

Construction is expected to start in October 2025 dependent on the final approvals from the City of Mercer Island. All the City's initial requirements have been met but, like any major construction effort, the City requires detailed reviews before permits are issued.

What does the full construction timeline look like?

Below is a detailed graphic showing the expected construction timeline and milestones. Please note that construction timelines are influenced by many different factors and will change over time. We will do our best to communicate any changes to the overall timelines when we have this information.

What kind of disruptions can we expect during construction, especially around High Holidays or lifecycle events (e.g. B'nai Mitzvah) next fall?

The project committee is taking many aspects into consideration during the construction of the new building, including limiting any disruptions to lifecycle events and holidays. During construction, services will be held in the Gladstein Chapel and sanctuary and there will be ample parking and full use of the facility as it is today.

Will it be loud in the new building because of its proximity to I-90?

The building has been designed to minimize outside noise and to create an optimal learning environment for JDS and HNT. We do not anticipate that the noise from I-90 will be noticeable or create a disturbance during regular use of the facility.

Are you going to build a continuous walkway or stairs between buildings?

There is not a plan for a continuous walkway or stairs between buildings.

Where will all the trees go?

As few trees as possible are going to be removed as part of the construction. For those that are removed, the City of Mercer Island requires that we replant a significant portion of the trees. Those new trees will be planted around the new Barnabie Point building. We are planning to have a special tree planting in honor of Tu B'Shevat.

If you have questions, comments, or are interested in getting involved, please contact the project team at barnabiepoint@h-nt.org.

A Message from Director of Education Irit Eliav Levin

“Do not separate yourself from the community.”

– Hillel, Pirke Avot

“Mom, which of my friends are going to be there? Can you text my friend’s mom to see if they are coming? Will there be anyone my age?”

These are the questions I am asked every time we head to an event at HNT, a Shabbat dinner, or a birthday party. My children check in with me to see if they will share this experience with people they care about, if there will be someone to play with, if they are likely to have fun. It’s easy to write this off as a childhood habit, but truly, I’m no different. I also want to know before I head somewhere if my friends will be there, if I will have someone to sit with at dinner, if I will enjoy my experience. I’m guessing you likely feel the same.

Many years ago, I had a parent complain to me about time spent at recess during Religious School. “They have such limited time there! Isn’t that time better spent learning, rather than playing ball?” And my answer was simply, “No. Recess is actually one of the most important things we do. If they have friends and build community here, then they will want to learn and will always feel connected to other Jews wherever they go.”

Recognizing this, the FRS Parent Committee has been working exceptionally hard this year to create opportunities for relationship building - for our students, but just as importantly for their parents. We’re organizing grade level playdates, so that families can know the other children and parents in their child(ren)’s class. We are hosting a “Parents’ Night Out” event on January 11th, giving parents an opportunity to socialize, while their children are led in fun activities by our HNTeens advisor, Josh Kittay. We have three TGIS (Thank God It’s Shabbat!) dinners coming up, where FRS families will get a chance to share a meal with one another and spend time with friends new and old.

In the current complicated reality in which we are living, the need for connection with other Jews feels stronger than ever. Far too many of our students have been facing blatant antisemitism at school, hearing attacks on Israel that they are too young to understand. It is simply hard to be a Jewish kid in school right now.

But when they walk in the door at HNT, they feel at home. Their friends greet them, they sing Jewish songs at the top of their lungs, and they can share excitement for upcoming Jewish holidays. They have teachers and madrichim who love them and are excited to be with them. They are with people who understand them at a deeper level, seeing their whole true selves. And that is a priceless and powerful gift that our community is able to give our children. Thank you to every one of you for your support of HNT, for making these experiences possible for our children. They matter more than you’ll ever know.

Sending TLC To Hillel UW Students From HNT • January 2 - 31

Collection of Relaxation Activities for Jewish Students at Hillel UW

University campuses across the U.S. are experiencing the largest rise in antisemitism that we've seen in decades. Here in Seattle, Jewish students at UW experience antisemitism in one form or another on campus virtually every day. As a result, they are struggling with mental health issues such as anxiety, feelings of isolation, and fear of revealing their Jewish identity. Hillel staff members are working nonstop with UW administrators to educate them on antisemitism, build connections, and provide responses when Task Force policies are breached. In addition, Hillel is there to support Jewish students physically, emotionally, and spiritually. Hillel staff provide a safe space where Jewish students can relax, feel at home, and enjoy spending time with other Jewish students. Counseling is also available.

We at HNT can support students at Hillel UW by providing them with special activities for them to enjoy while relaxing with other Jewish students. To this end, we are collecting NEW music equipment for the Hillel House Bands, board games, art supplies, ping pong equipment, and snacks.

You can contribute to this collection in one of three ways:

- By purchasing one or more items from our Amazon Wishlist here: h-nt.org/UW-WL.
- By purchasing one or more of the Wishlist Items at a store of your choice and dropping them off at HNT from January 2 – January 31 during HNT's business hours. There are clearly marked bins in the foyer.
- Or make a monetary donation at h-nt.org/UW-TLC that will go directly toward purchasing items for Hillel UW students.

For questions or more information, please contact Cora@h-nt.org.

Let's show our support for Jewish students at Hillel UW!
